DEID IN KANSAS.

Mrs. Matilda Brookover, a Native of Brownsville, O.

Sabetha, Kansas, Republican Herald.

Matilda Brookover was born in Brown county, Ohio, March 7th, 1820. She was married to Jacob Luesley, July 14th, 1830, and lived in Aberdeen, Ohio, until 1853, when they moved to Henry county, Illinois. They moved to Sabetha, Kansas, in 1871. Since the death of her husband, Mrs. Brookover has lived with her youngest daughter in Hiawatha. She was converted and joined the M. E. Church in 1832, and has lived a consistent Christian life since that time.

But a short time before her death she received a letter from a son in Phoenix, Arizona, whom she has not seen for years, containing expressions of filial affection which greatly comforted her in her last days, though she did not see him.

She was the mother of eight children: Mrs. N. A. Yockey, who now lives in Pickering, Missouri; Mrs. J. B. Bushnell, Sabetha, Kansas; C. C. Luesley, Phoenix, Arizona; R. M. Luesley, Willard, Missouri; Mrs. Maria Kilmer, who died two years ago; Mrs. Lucy Sweetland, Hiawatha, Kansas; W. F. Luesley, Hiawatha, Kansas; J. R. Luesley, Chicago.

Her health had been failing since November, but she was not considered seriously sick until about two weeks before her death, which occurred March 7th, 1896.

The funeral was held in the M. E. Church in this city last Sunday afternoon at four o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. A. Biggart, and the remains were laid to rest in the Sabetha Cemetery.

Mrs. Brookover has many relations in Brown county, O., and in this city, among them being Mrs. Fred. Otto of Limestone street.

FACTS THAT WILL ENDURE.

A Calm Review of the Entire Situation at the Capital.

BRADLEY'S COURSE RIGHT.

Lancaster Post, (Democratic.)

THE SITUATION AT FRANKFORT.

The Courier-Journal reviews with entire fairness the events which led up to the situation yesterday, but it makes a serious mistake when it touches on the action of the Sergeant-at-Arms. It says:

"Literally late, the law authorizes the appointment by the Senate of only one Sergeant-at-Arms. It says nothing about deputies. It is, however, a very defective law. If, under it, the Sergeant-at-Arms cannot provide himself with the substitutes necessary to execute the commands of the Senate, the Sergeant-at-Arms is intended to be the agent, the executive officer, the physical arm of the legislative body which creates him. His power is a delegated power, and is equal to that which the legislative body possesses, if it chooses to delegate it to him. It would defeat the very purpose of his office if he had no more physical power than a man could exercise. The task which the Senate commanded him to do might require a dozen men or a hundred men. If that task comes within the authority of the Senate, then certainly the Senate must be able to empower its officers to perform it."

In the first place, it is not a "law" which restricts the power of the Senate. It is a plain provision of the Constitution which even a Judge of the Court of Appeals cannot misunderstand. If it is "defective" the defect can be removed only by an amendment to the Constitution, and is not in any degree modified by any curbsome opinion Judge Hazelrigg gives to Jack Chinn.

Furthermore, this Constitutional prohibition is put in the most positive form. It provides for a clerk and other clerks to assist the clerk, but for one Sergeant-at-Arms, and no more. Beyond the officers named, the Constitution says "the Senate shall not elect, appoint, employ or pay for" others.

Now, if the Senate is thus prohibited the Sergeant-at-Arms has no power to do what the Senate is forbidden to do.

It may be claimed that the Senate has "inherent" power. It may have certain inherent power on points about which the Constitution—which is the voice of the people—is silent, but in this case the Constitution deprives the Senate of power, inherent or otherwise.

Beyond this it is not necessary to go. But let us assume that the Senate had the power to appoint six deputies for Sommers, the Senate would have to order the employment of this force. In such a matter the Sergeant-at-Arms cannot act at his own volition. He is always and at all times under the direction and control of the Senate. He has no delegated power until the power has been delegated. If the Senate sets him a task, it must do it definitely. No employee can act in the name of the Senate; not even Bronston; not Bronston and Geobell together could do what Sommers undertakes to do even were the Constitution silent on the point.

Sommers' whole course has been one of usurpation and defiance. He ignores the Senate; ignores the Constitution, and to use the language of The Courier-Journal itself, appoints "men with reputations for violence, men who are fierce partisans of a Senatorial candidate, with the object of serving the interests of that candidate."

Moreover, Sommers undertook to make these men of violence officers of the Joint Assembly.

That violence had been done, and further violence threatened, was known by all men. Dr. Walton had been forcibly attacked in the Senate chamber by a Senator and others. A Doorkeeper of the House had been set upon by Sommers' deputies. The Courier-Journal itself had said in its editorial columns:

"The legislative halls of Kentucky, supposed to be the source of the state's law, were in possession of mobs which set at defiance all law. Turbulence, ruffianism, madness, anarchy reigned; and that blood did not flow and death crown the orgy of passion was a miracle not to be explained by the absence of instruments of death and desperadoes to wield them."

Again the same newspaper said:

"Not the least disgraceful feature of the whole disgraceful proceedings in the House and Senate at Frankfort Wednesday was the part which characters like Jack Chinn and Jim Williams were authorized to play by the followers of one Senatorial candidate. The brawl in which these men have been engaged have made their names by words in Kentucky."

As still further exhibiting the serious nature of the situation at Frankfort, we take this paragraph from The Courier-Journal of Friday:

"Some of the members of the General Assembly were very indignant yesterday because police were stationed in the Capitol to keep the peace. If the authorities had done their duty police would have been on hand Wednesday, and a goodly squad of members of the Legislature, including would-be leaders and their armed desperadoes, would have been landed in the calaboose."

The police did not do its duty; the Mayor refused to do his duty, and the Sheriff failed to restrain the bullwhores.

As Chief Magistrate the Governor is bound to take notice of what is going on about him. As Chief Magistrate he was appealed to by the President of the Senate, elected by the people, and by the Speaker of the House. Nor was this all; he was informed of a concerted movement toward the Capital of friends of Blackburn, whose campaign is thus fitly described by The Courier-Journal:

"Blackburn's whole campaign has been one of insurrection and unscrupulous personal advancement, his means being the excitement of factional passion and dissension and his object to seize power at the expense of the party which made him, or failing in that, to block the election of any other man. It was but natural that the reckless efforts of such a political pirate to become the lawless dictator of his party, or above his party, when abetted by followers numerous enough to hold the balance of power in the Legislature, should result in a state of wild demoralization in his own party and of corresponding inflammation in the Republican party."

Under these circumstances any Governor worthy of the position would have acted as Governor Bradley acted. The pretense that the statute under which the Senate Committee assumes to act has any application to this case does not deceive any lawyer in the Senate. It is probably the conclusion of Hazelrigg, who, if he gets justice, will be impeached by his term expires.

The Governor is not disturbing or embarrassing the General Assembly; he is protecting it from disturbance, embarrassment and intimidation, and we doubt if Hazelrigg himself for one moment believes that by calling out the militia to protect the Legislature the Governor has subjected himself to fine and imprisonment.

C. E. PRISON WORK.

Something About the Coming State Convention.

Below will be found a communication from the State Prison, in regard to C. E. prison work, and the State and International Conventions.

Special attention is called to his reference to the coming State Convention. The Hopkinsville delegation to the Louisville Convention last year worked hard to bring this year's meeting to Paducah, and for that reason we should take unusual interest in the gathering. Let us lend our prayers and assistance to make this the greatest State Convention we have ever had.

Endeavor work in the Kentucky State Prisons is counting for great good. In the State Prison at Frankfort, a very large and influential society of more than two hundred members is carried on under the direction of the Chaplain, Rev. W. B. Cooper. The Corresponding Secretary received as a New Year's gift, a pardon from the Governor, and his first act was to visit the Endeavorers who had interested themselves in his behalf and been instrumental in changing his life. Two large societies have also been formed in the branch State Prison at Eddyville, and the President of one and an efficient officer of the other have been lately pardoned. Truly, Endeavor will become popular among our state prisoners.

Active preparations are being made for our '96 State Convention at Paducah, May 29th, 30th and 31st. All our state is working for it and it will be a great Convention.

Washington, '96," is receiving a great deal of attention. Our transportation and entertainment manager, Dr. W. P. Banta of Louisville, with an able committee is actively engaged in working up Convention interests all over the state. Kentucky will be proud of her delegation to Washington this year.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

WE'RE FOR AMERICA! AMERICANS!

BRADLEY!

Kentucky's Own Son for President.

THE Democratic Louisville Post says Governor BRADLEY's act in calling out the troops will be commended by all fair-minded Kentuckians. That is an expression of manly candor in strange contrast with the barkings of the little cross-roads terriers.

We have yet to hear of the first instance where the military have interfered with people who obey the laws. It is only the law-breakers and those who sympathize with them that are "out-raged" by the soldiers, whose office is to enforce peace and prevent disorder and enforce peace.

The lawless element to the number of about 100 held a meeting at Lexington to "indignate" over Governor BRADLEY's action in calling out the troops. And here is the pedigree of some of the leading speakers who denounced the Governor:

"Colonel JACK CHINN was notorious as one of the pioneer small gamblers of Chicago. He and GEORGE HANKINS and MORGAN for many years conducted a gambling-house in the Windy City.

"Ex-Mayor DAVENPORT is today being sued for thousands of dollars that the experts say he failed to pay into the City Treasury while City Collector of Lexington.

"Ex-State Treasurer STEPHEN G. SHARP has just retired from the office of City Collector of Lexington and the experts say he is short in his accounts nearly $20,000."

Oh, no; there were no "threats" made by JACK CHINN and his fellow compatriots at Frankfort; and yet here is a sample of the testimony given before Messrs. BRONSTON'S and GORDEL'S Senate Committee which undertook to "try" Governor BRADLEY for "usurpation of power."

The witness was Colonel E. H. GATHER, of the Second Regiment, himself a staunch Democrat.

The extract is taken from the legislative proceedings at Frankfort:

"GATHER'S testimony was to the effect that he saw a telegram sent to ALVIN TAYLOR at Lexington by J. MORGAN CHINN, son of JACK CHINN, saying: 'Come to Frankfort and bring fighters with you.' The Colonel also stated that PAUL THOMPSON had said: 'Colonel GATHER, if you, as Colonel of the Second Regiment, come to Frankfort to frustrate our plans, you will be killed.' When THOMPSON was called to the stand he admitted making this statement."

In the face of these warlike preparations and these threats what an "outrage" it was, to be sure, for Governor BRADLEY to call upon the troops to preserve the peace and protect the honor of the state!

NO EXTRA SESSION.

Gov. Bradley Says Emphatically That He Will Not Call the Legislature Together Again.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 19.—When Gov. Bradley was asked Wednesday night if he would call an extra session of the legislature, he said:

"I have stated that I would not about 29 times. No, I will not. The democrats in the senate purposely avoided the passage of a revenue bill in order to embarrass the republican administration. The house passed the bill promptly, considerable time before the session adjourned.

"The statement that I failed to recommend in the message that action should be taken to meet accrued indebtedness and provide for current expenses is untrue. The message shows for itself. There has been enough money of the state wasted already on the session of the legislature and I don't think the people should be afflicted any further.

"If the interests of the state suffer a democratic senate is responsible, and, having failed once to take any steps, it would be quite useless to expect them to do any better in the future.

Can the Governor Apologize?

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 19.—Some of the republicans think Gov. Bradley has the power to appoint a senator to the vacancy for the term expiring between the expiration of Senator Blackburn's commission and the meeting of the legislature. Gov. Bradley could, as has been seen Wednesday morning, but Speaker Blanford and others close to him said the governor had no such authority. There is general discussion, however, of the proposition as to whether a senator could be elected at a special session while the majority of the members of both parties incline to the contrary opinion it is not an entirely settled point.

CANAL BILL.

The House Sub-Committee Will Make a Report Friday.

The Bill Provides for a Reorganization of the Maritime Canal Co.

Bonds Can be Issued to the Amount of $100,000,000.—The government guarantees the Principal and Interest, and is secured by Stock.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The subcommittee of the house commerce committee, which has been engaged for several weeks in the preparation of a Nicaragua canal bill, finished its labors Wednesday and will report to the full committee on Friday next. The bill agreed upon is substantially the Mahone bill with certain amendments. It provides for a reorganization of the Maritime Canal Co. It permits the company to issue bonds to the amount of one hundred million dollars, of which seven millions shall be held by the company to reimburse it for the money actually expended in Nicaragua for the franchise. The United States guarantees the principal and interest of the bonds, which latter shall be sold as needed to complete the waterway. The United States is protected in its liabilities by an issue of one hundred million dollars of stock, which is to be deposited in the United States treasury at Washington. Ten of the fifteen directors shall represent the government, the remaining five representing the company, and the republic of Nicaragua and Costa Rica. The bill requires the company to call in and cancel all its outstanding obligations except the bonds issued to the amount of one hundred million dollars, and the new bill, they will be permitted to retain. All the bonds will be interest at three per cent per annum, the net earnings of the canal to be placed in the sinking fund for their extinguishment from time to time. Additional security is given to the government by a first mortgage on the canal. The work will be supervised by the government, and the right to the government to purchase at its pleasure the seven millions of bonds held by that corporation.

A hearing will be given by the committee to ex-Senator Warner Miller, of New York, on Friday next.

Ladlin & Rand's Powder Works, Near Kingston, Blown Up.

Thirty Thousand Pounds of Powder
Exploded, Killing Five Men.

The Cause of the Explosion Will Never Be Known—The Loss Will Exceed $25,000.

—The Shock Was Felt in Kingston,
Seven Miles From the Scene.

Kingston, N. Y., March 19.—The Ladlin & Rand powder works at Riton exploded shortly after 11 o'clock Wednesday. The upper glazer first exploded setting off the dry-house and wrecking the corner mill engine-house and lower glazer. Five men were killed. The names of the killed are Jones, Smalley, Peterson and two men named Decker.

The cause of the explosion will never be known. The works were destroyed in a similar manner in January, 1894.
They were afterwards repaired. They extended for half a mile along the Wallkill creek. The loss will exceed $25,000. The works were owned by Kingston. The shock, however, was felt strongly in this city, and caused small panics in several factories where female help is employed.

The complete list of the dead is:

Elias Peterson, aged 38 years, leaves

a wife.

A PLOT

To Lynch Jackson and Walling Discovered

in Newport, Ky.

Newport, Ky., March 19.—A plan arranged by Greengrass people to lynch Jackson and Walling was discovered in Newport late Wednesday night, and there was a hurrying of messengers and a gathering of defensive forces in the neighborhood of the Newport jail.

It was found that a Greengrass man, who is cousin of Fred Ryan, had made arrangements for the accommodation of 40 strangers at a Newport hotel. The hotel arrangements were effected with a good deal of secrecy, and two men who arrived as an advance guard and occupied one of the rooms declined to give their names. The officials of Newport were satisfied last night that they had run up a plot to lynch the prisoners.

At midnight the belief was sustained by all the investigations which were made.

TAILORS' STRIKE.

The First Outbreak of Violence at Chicago
—A General Riot Prevented.

CHICAGO, March 19.—The first outbreak of violence in connection with the tailors' strike occurred Wednesday afternoon in the sweat shop district of Halstead street. The arrival of a squad of policemen under command of Capt. John Wheeler, prevented a general riot between strikers, non-union workers and sympathizers.

With the strikers, a large delegation
from the Garment Workers' union called at the sweat shop of Henry Kaufman at 404 Halstead street early morning, and tried to induce the non-union men to stop work until the strike was settled. The non-union men refused, and the strikers became belligerent.

When Kaufman raised the front window of his shop and fired half a dozen shots promiscuously into the crowd, causing wild excitement. No one was hit. The police guard at the factory sent in a riot call and the crowd dispersed.

Some of the strikers, however, remained in a body. Kaufman and three of his employees were arrested with several strikers. The strikers claim to have received the assistance of the Police
from the Garment Workers' union.

CUBAN VICTORY.

Important Battle Fought in the Vicinity of Candelaria.

The Spaniards Retired From their Position With Considerable Loss.

The Insurgents Made a Charge and a Hand to Hand Engagement Ensued. The Engagement Lasted Two Hours, and Terminated in a Decisive Charge.

HAVANA, March 19.—News has been received here of an important battle which was fought on Monday in the vicinity of Candelaria, in the province of Pinar del Rio. The government troops were unable to drive the insurgents back and retired from their position with considerable loss.

The Spanish forces were commanded by Gen. Linares and Col. Incan and Hernandez, and the rebels by Maceo and Bandera. The fight was begun on a line parallel with the main road. The Spanish forces played the Tarifa battalion, a section of the Victoria cavalry and a detachment of artillery forming the vanguard, and opening fire on the enemy. The rebels returned this fire and at the same time made an attack upon the rear guard of the Spaniards, completely encircling their column. Having entirely surrounded the government troops, the insurgents advanced upon the artillerymen with machetes. The latter made a vigorous resistance, using muskets and grenades with such effect as to check for a time the enemy's advance, but with reinforcements, a second charge was made by the insurgents and a hand to hand engagement ensued. The battle terminated with a bayonet charge.

After a hot fight lasting two hours, the Spaniards were defeated, losing many killed and wounded. It was the intention of the enemy to prevent Col. Indian from proceeding to Candelaria.

The official report of the fight says
the insurgents suffered a tremendous loss.
The Spaniards lost two captains and five privates killed and one lieutenant, four sergeants and 54 soldiers wounded. Gen. Linares arrived at Candelaria an hour after the conclusion of the engagement and there he reported his share in the battle.

Heliographic communication was interrupted Tuesday.

The rebels have burned all but 15 houses in San Antonio de Las Vegas, in the province of Havana.

DIAMOND SMUGGLING.

A Cincinnati Man Held in $3,000 Bail for Count in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, March 19.—Herman Keck, a member of the firm of Conder-man, Heinrich, Keck & Co., diamond cutters of Cincinnati, was arrested
under United States Commissioner Bell Wednesday afternoon on the charge of being implicated in smuggling diamonds into this country. Keck was arrested in New York on Saturday by Special Custom Agent Cummings. His arrest grew out of the seizure of Capt.
Loewitz, of the American line steamship Rhyndland at this port some weeks ago. Special Agent Gallen, of this city, found 600 small diamonds, valued at about ten thousand dollars, in the captain's stateroom. The jewels were not sent to his own manifest.

Capt. Loewitz, who is held in bail for court on the same charge, was called as a witness. He said:

"I met Keck in Antwerp on January
27. A friend, who is a jeweler, introduced us. My friend gave me a package before we parted, saying, 'This package is Keck's. Will you take it to America for him?' I looked at the package and saw that it was diamonds. I addressed the package handed me a piece of paper with Von Reith, Cincinnati, written on it. My friend and Keck assured me that the package contained no dutiable articles."

The captain produced an affidavit signed by his friend in Antwerp, which substantiated his testimony.

After the case had been argued at length, Mr. Keck was held in $3,000 bail for court.

FROM THE SUNNY SOUTH.

Entertaining Letter From a Mayvillian—Sights in the Crescent City.

New Orleans, March 16th, 1896.

Dear Lady:

"Thy mountains and thy valleys.

They are sacred all to me."

This is the sentiment that lies itself with cable strength about the heart of every Kentuckian.

He believes that the sun does not shine so brightly out of any sky as that above his native state, and no people so genial, intelligent and great-hearted as they of his "Old Kentucky Home."

That same cord constantly draws me toward the land I love so well, and I would fain keep in touch with the home so dear to me.

I can only do this by "taking my pen in hand to drop you a line" now and then.

Scenes, incidents and our dits in New Orleans, however, must make my theme.

I trust I shall not tire you or your host of readers.

Since my last letter I have visited many places of interest in this historic city, first of which may be given is Audubon Park, no named spot, but a beautiful naturalist, who spent much of his time in and about New Orleans while pursuing his favorite study in America. The great attraction of the park is a vast green-house, situated in a large common surrounded by giant moss-covered live oaks, who, could they speak, could tell many a chapter of unwritten French and Spanish pioneer history. This great conservatory is filled principally with plants of far Southern latitudes which are beautiful in and around Audubon Park was located the New Orleans Cotton Exposition, all traces of which are now gone.

Mt. Airy Cemetery is a place in which the Orientals takes much pride, and is that to which he himself at last takes his journey, and he has the honor to have an after-death place erected over his mortal remains. It has been said that none but the wealthy can enjoy life, but here it would seem that none but the wealthy can enjoy death. This burial ground is a vast stretch of level marsh from which the jungle growth has been cleared and effort made to drain it, but not successfully. There are many fine shell driveways and avenues through the grounds, but there is no bit of grass in it, and as you walk along the ways, you can, on every side, see the towering obelisk of the crawfish, which would seem would vie with his human earth-dwellers in the vastness of his march from twelve to eighteen inches up dead.

To say that the house-like tombs of this city of the dead are beautiful is a tame expression of the truth. Almost all of them are palatial. No two are alike in design, and each one a monument of triumph. The finest marbles and granites and the rarest stones have been sought out as the materials out of which is built these palaces of the dead.

Here are a few monuments of much beauty, erected by societies and organizations, the most attractive being an equestrian statue of Albert Sidney Johnson, erected by the Louisiana Division of the Army of the Tennessee. In the vault beneath are buried several Beauregards, and others of more or less note in the War of the Rebellion.

One has not been in New Orleans correctly unless he visits its West End, a summer evening and Sunday resort place. It is the shore of Lake Pontchartrain, and is made up of boat club and bath houses, restaurants, pavilions and rest places. Here may be found also the Mirror Maze, which attracted universal attention at the Chicago Exposition. Several handsome yachts may be seen moored here, being put in readiness for the coming season.

A visit to the Mint here was one enjoyed more than any other made so largely by the polite attentions shown, and the full explanations given by Mr. Carter Harrison Bradley of the Mint, whose function is to receive visitors and show them what Uncle Sam's money factory.

We were shown and had explained to us every detail of the process of coining, from the beginning with the huge ingot to the last finishing touch making the perfect coin. Mr. Bradley is a Virginian by birth, and is probably related to our Governor, but whether he is or not when our Governor becomes President

I shall use whatever of humble influence I can bring to bear on him to keep Mr. Bradley in the Mint here, as he is regarded to race, color, previous condition of servitude or party affiliation, for his superior for the position cannot be found, and I believe in Civil Service as one of the best stones of the dignity and supremacy of Old Glory "from the earth all round to the sea."

Spanish Fort, like West End, is on the lake. It is a relic of the early days of Louisiana, and was built by the Spaniards to resist forays from the buccannier Indians. Its only attraction is in its historic association. In going there you pass the noted dueling ground of New Orleans, found in the chronicles of the Anglo-Saxons. It looks an ideal spot for cleaning "honors" with crimson human gore as you look down through the wind corridors of giant, aged oak oaks as they stand draped in long, heavy festoons of moss, telling their branches as they swing in the breeze of the passing centuries. Here have been compelled to shelter and to look upon in days ago.

St. Charles avenue marks the line of the homes of a large part of New Orleans' wealth and aristocracy. It is beautiful. The residences, for the most part, are elegant and costly, each having ample grounds, as a rule, beautifully by artistic ornamentation, to which is to be added a luxuriant growth of rich, rare flowers in all the loveliness and perfection of this latitude, all covered or shaded by stately palms, palmettos, live oaks and maples, with their royal highness, Roman, in costume awed and afloat along the asphalted ways of the avenue, and you have "a picture that no painter has got the colors to make."

One could write of many quaint and curious things to be found in this Franco-Spanish American city, whose interesting history goes back through the centuries. In the window of a jewelry store on Canal street may be seen a tray containing a display of the mysterious "hooded" rabbit's foot, each with a silver band around the top. Above the tray is a card on which is written: "Warranted for the last hind foot of a rabbit killed in a graveyard at midnight by a cross-eyed nigger on a white horse with a single barbed shotgun."

The exports of New Orleans for February last exceeded those of February, '95, by $5,000,000. I don't know why, unless they were "scared" by my last letter.

Politics are in an excited state here. It is the machine Democracy versus a Populist-Republican combine, which latter, however, does not seem to be very harmoniously combined, and at this writing looks much like a walkover for the Democrats.

The French Market here, so famous, does not differ much from our old-time market-house displays of vegetables, except that one misses old Mr. Otto and Uncle Sam Shaffer.

Should another letter be acceptable it will be written from the land of the lariat and the cowboy.

Vale, New Orleans—and her molasses Yours,

BEN ADRIEN.

As a result of an attempt to establish a Sunday school in Alport, Mich., eleven badly battered citizens are now confined in the lockup. The school was to have been held in a day schoolhouse, but the French residents objected to the use of the building for religious purposes.

All last winter Mr. George A. Mills of Lebanon, Conn., was badly afflicted with rheumatism. This morning, however, he could not stand up straight, but was drawn over on one side. "I tried different remedies without receiving relief," he says, "until about six months ago I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. After using it for three days my rheumatism was gone and has not returned since." For sale by J. James Wood, Druggist.

An Irishwoman sent for her lawyer in great haste, saying she wanted him on trial for burglary. On entering, the woman rushed up to him and said: "Mr. B. O. I want you to get a continuance for my Jimmie." "Very well, madam, I shall do so if possible, but it will be necessary to give some reason. What shall I say?" "Share, just tell the judge I want a continuance till O. I can get a better lawyer to speak for the case." The lawyer dropped the case.

Not to Be Trifled With. From recent reports it is known that an accident is to be dreaded, and that when it occurs treatment should be promptly applied. There is no knowing where trouble will end, and while complete recovery is the rule, the exceptions are terribly frequent, and thousands upon thousands of fatal illnesses occur every year ushered in by a little injudicious exposure and seemingly trifling symptoms. Beyond this, there are several hundred invalids who can trace their complaints to "colds," which at the time of occurrence gave no concern, and were therefore neglected. When troubled with a cold use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is prompt and effectual. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by J. James Wood, Druggist.

The horny-handed man calls it "pay," the skilled mechanic "wages," the city clerk "salary," the banker "income," a land owner "rent roll," a lawyer "fees," a burglar "swag," but it all comes to the same at the end of the week.

People ought to quit saying "brave as a lion," for a lion is nothing more than a big bully. A tiger can whip a lion and make him howl like a wisp. A lion is brave only when in the society of weaker animals. "Brave as a lion in a sheep fold" would be about right. A rosin is braver than a lion and a house fly is no hero compared with the king of beasts.

Simon S. Hartman of Tunneton, W. Va., has been subject to attacks of colic about once a year, and would have to call a doctor and then suffer for about twelve hours as much as some do when they die. He was taken recently just the same as at other times, and concluded to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says: "I took one dose of it and it gave me relief in five minutes. That is more than anything else has ever done for me." For sale by J. James Wood, Druggist.
